

Cookie Policy

This notice explains how we use cookies and other tracking technologies on our website.

Cookies and similar technologies

This website uses cookies and other similar technologies. Cookies allow us to distinguish you from other users of our website and are essential to the proper functioning of our website. In combination with other methods, cookies also help us to provide you with a good browsing experience and they give us information which helps us improve our website and understand our visitors.

Types of cookies

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Strictly necessary purposes

- where essential to provide you with the services and content which you request when visiting our website
- to remember your cookie settings while you're visiting our website

Use of cookies for strictly necessary purposes cannot be turned off.

Functional purposes

- to personalise and speed up delivery of content and services on our website by remembering information such as the type of device you are using, your language preference, your selected cookie settings, your location settings

Except for your cookie settings, we do not retain information obtained for functional purposes after you close your browser.

If you do not wish us to use cookies for functional purposes, you can adjust cookie settings to refuse them. However, this may affect the performance and functionality of our website.

Performance purposes

- to record and report errors or bugs encountered while you're on our website – this helps us ensure that our website is working properly
- to gather anonymous statistical information on how our website is used (e.g. which pages are visited, how long visits last, which links are clicked)
- to identify repeat visits to our website
- to know if you receive and open any emails we send you in response to a request.

The performance data we compile using cookies is always aggregated and made anonymous so that it is impossible to identify any individual.

If you do not wish us to use cookies for these purposes, you can adjust cookie settings to refuse them. This will not affect your experience visiting our website.

Advertising purposes

We do not use cookies for advertising purposes.

First-party and third-party cookies

We do not allow third-party cookies to be set through our website. All cookies used on our website are first party – they are set and used by us only and not by any other company or website. We do not deploy or track cookies that we have set through any other website or online application.

Session and Persistent cookies

Session cookies expire at the end of your browser session (normally when you close your browser). Persistent cookies remain on your device even after you leave our website. They have a programmed expiry date but can generally be removed using your browser tools.
